

How dare you ? We pay all of the bills and fees with the phone and if I do not want people calling my house,I should have that right. If telemarketers want to call us they should be charged as soon as the first ring starts and it should automatically be credited to my phone bill,and they should need my written permission to call me.I deserve peace and quiet in my own home.I am so thankful NJ passed the toughest do not call law.Our bills in this part of the country for services are more expensive than any other part of the USA.The phone is for my use,and my use only ,not some unknown stranger or business trying to promote their agenda.It is also for emergencies and if my child cannot get me because the phone is tied up, because strangers are trying to sell us something,and tying up my machine with stupid messages,it's time to start filing lawsuits against these businesses.All phone numbers should be unlisted and private.Remember, if I pay for it,I should have rights.You do not have the right to harrass me in my own home!!!
